The IRIS

Oh beautiful! beautiful! flower!
The ward of the sunbeam and shower
In garments of woven delight,
Of the sunset, Aurora and light.
While over thy beauty there plays
Such blending of color and shade,
Such delicate tinting and rays,
Well becoming a heavenly maid.
Ethereal, lovely and sweet,
Thy presence we joyously greet.

Thy Mother, fair Iris, in beauty supreme,
Took all her rich fabrics of loveliest sheen,
The robes of the rainbow, flower garden of air,
Of bewildering beauty, resplendently fair,
And made for her child such a dazzling dress
No daughter of royalty e'er could possess.

Though her form seems so fragile, yet wondrously brave,
Away in the Northland where fierce tempests rave,
She wakes from her sleep in her cradle of snow
And beams on the world with a radiant glow.
Away on the plains in the drought and the heat,
She is cheerfully waiting admirers to greet.
To her fairy presence must ever belong
The tribute of praise and the rapture of song.

Iris Time is Here

Greetings

God spokel and from the arid scene
Sprang rich and verdant bowers;
'Till all the earth was soft and green
He smiled, and there were flowers.

A GAIN I am happy to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to my friends and customers for their many nice orders and letters during the past season. I wish it were possible for me to write a personal note of "thank you" to all who have contributed to the success and pleasure of my flower garden.

It is indeed a pleasure to make your personal acquaintance and I hope you will surely come again in 1940 and also hope to meet many new friends and customers. Please come and make yourself right at home.

My Iris garden is conducted largely for the happiness that it brings my friends and an attempt to reveal in a simple, helpful way, something of the soul satisfying fascination and happiness. My collection represents one of the largest and finest.

Why Not Grow Iris for Happiness, Health and Wealth?

The Iris is such a numerous, and one of the most beautiful families of flowers on which the sun shines, continuing so long in bloom and with some varieties of indescribable beauty, and there is such a broad field for new varieties.

Fortunate the man or woman that chooses a vocation in nature's realm. They reap some of the joys of living intended for every creature called to life. Iris culture is a delightful soul-satisfying hobby with which to occupy one's leisure hours. It opens up avenues of close communion with nature. It enriches one's outlook and interest and provides inspiration with which to face with greater courage the cares that infest the day. If you will plant a few well-chosen varieties of good Iris and go out in the garden among the growing, gorgeous, gay blooming, delightfully fragrant Iris early in the morning as the sun is rising you will feel abundantly repaid.

Open your soul to their inspiration and thank God for this beautiful world.

Raise Plenty of It and Be Rich.

My Own New Introductions and Other New Introductions

- ADA LYONS, (Callis, 1941). Parents William Asbury and Louis Pasteur. One of the most uniquely styled iris. A flower of elusive charm, a new bicolor; midseason; very tall; golden beard; lilac fragrance; the S. are a tourmaline pink; F. a rosy pink. Flowers are medium large, splendidly textured, and well proportioned branched stalks leave little to be desired. Thoroughly fine and a new color advance. A clear and refreshing pink bi-color..... 15.00
- ANNA ELVIRA NASH, (Callis, 1941). Parents Mabel Taft and Ethelwyn Dubuar. A beautiful deep pink orchid self; marvelously glowing and lustrous, this iris is impossible to picture in mere words. It must be seen to fully appreciate the beauty of the subtle harmonious self. The richness of color is enhanced by a heavy golden beard. A distinct iris of most attractive color, firm substance, and excellent branching, late and a profuse bloomer. A good multiplier; fragrance of a white lilac..... 15.00
- BACHELOR GIRL, (Callis, 1941). Parents Mary H. Duncan and William Asbury. A stunning new creation; an aristocrat among iris, distinguished for its fascinating color and perfection of form. A winsome white plicata with golden beard. The S. are nicely closed and the F. rounded in form; a late bloomer, tall and well-branched; F. penciled and picot in old rose; fragrance of sweet peas ..... 15.00
- BRIGHT MELODY, (Snyder, 1940). Is quite a break in color of concord grape in sunshine, blooms of large leathery texture on good branching stalk, S. closed and of balanced size; F. well rounded, the predominating color shading off to a rich brown with the beard..... 10.00
- BRIGHT MELODY, (Snyder, 1941). Is quite a break in color of Concord grape in sunshine, blooms of large leathery texture on good branching stalk, S. closed and of balanced size; F. well rounded, the predominating color shading off to a rich brown with the beard.
To bloom in my Garden this year for the first time..... 10.00
- OKLAHOMA SUNSET, (Grisso and Callis, 1941). This lovely iris bloomed in my garden last year and it belongs to one of Oklahoma's well-known iris enthusiasts and hybridizers, Mrs. Alice V. Grisso, who has worked many tireless years growing and pollinizing iris as a pleasure and at last has created one of the most outstanding and new in color iris I have seen. The Oklahoma people are proud of their state and city and when word was received over the state that an iris by an Oklahoman had been named Oklahoma Sunset, the demand was great. Looking into the heart of this iris it reminds one of a sunset. It has large well-shaped blooms, S. honey-pink blend, gold overlay, F. mulberry velvet, shading abruptly to a wide margin of rose, blending beautifully with S., orange beard; very prolific, heavy bloomer; about 30 inches.. 15.00
- WHITE BEARD, (Callis, 1941). Parents White Frost and Mary H. Duncan. Snow-white iris of medium size. S. and F. are pure white with a white beard; late; well-branched; 30 inches high; fragrance of a mock orange. This unique iris has a cool refreshing air in the hot, bright sun..... 10.00

Gersdorff's New Iris

Again this year my garden will be graced with Gersdorff's fine 1940-1941 introductions. Mr. Gersdorff's iris made such a fine showing in my garden last year and attracted the attention of iris enthusiasts. Mr. Gersdorff is one of the oldest and greatest hybridizers and knows iris from A to Z, and travels and works untiringly to judge and give fair ratings to all other iris hybridizers.

| The dwarf, or pumila, iris are the joy of the early garden—colorful, so sure to grow, so fragrant. Indispensable for the rock garden, very effective for the front of the border. For best results, they should be divided every two or three years, and replanted with a little light fertilizer. Dwarfs bloom approximately four weeks.                                                                                                                                                                                |       |

THE EARLY INTERMEDIATE IRIS

These early Iris, blooming between the pumilas and the tall bearded, are very necessary in our garden pictures. They furnish fine color masses, and combine very effectively with the Darwin tulips.

Hybridizers have recently been turning their attention to this group, and are producing large flowered varieties of fine form and color.

| THE FIRST LADY , (Callis, 1940). Nothing gay or flashy about this flower. A bizarre contrast of bright rose red and white. Specially striking in the garden picture because of its great carrying power. Viewed closely it is a flower with snow white S. and F. of the same color, penciled with rose red markings. Quite different than the usual haft markings of the heavily veined type. The individual flowers are of a medium to a large size. Height 40 inches. An easy doer with nicely branched stems. Late bloomer; fragrance of a white rose; yellow and white beard..... | 15.00                |

WILD ROSE IRIS GARDEN

FALL BLOOMING IRIS

These new Iris will add beauty to your garden in the fall as well as in the spring and will produce two or more normal crops of Iris each year. What a wonderful surprise and joy some hot August afternoon or chilly October morning to find a new Iris bloom. They are all quite hardy; can be planted any time and require the same treatment as the Tall Bearded Iris. Interest in fall bloomers is increasing rapidly.

A Note on The Cultivation of Irises

The Iris is a boon for an immense region where other flowers cannot grow. They are the best drought resisters we have.

A long experience in replying to queries received from beginners in Iris culture enables me to deal, in the following notes, with most of the details of cultivating Irises regarding which beginners are often in doubt, or are, unfortunately, misled when taking advice from those who are not competent to give it. My notes apply particularly to the April-flowering and May-flowering Bearded Irises—the finest of all.

Irises grow easier and multiply faster than any other perennial. Plant them in a sunny location that has a good drainage. Irises are easy to cultivate and can be planted almost any time the ground is not frozen. Do not plant too deep. Plant so that the rhizome is just below the surface. Spread out the roots and water the hole. Then draw the earth around the rhizome and firm well. If the soil is heavy and the drainage poor a raised bed and application of hydrated lime is advisable. Never use manure or leaves as they are likely to cause rot. Varieties that increase rapidly should be divided and reset every third year. Irises seem to succeed over a greater range of territory than any other plant, withstanding the cold of Canada and the heat of Mexico. A light covering of straw put over the tender Iris after the ground freezes will help to carry your plants safely through the winter. Good bloom the following spring may be expected from well-matured plants which make a reasonable growth in the fall.

Irises are subject to very few diseases when grown under normal conditions, and only one of these—Iris Rhizome Rot (Pseudomonas Iridis)—is serious. This is a bacterial disease, and usually attacks the plant in early summer at the base of the stem, which collapses. The rhizome becomes slimy and rotten. Affected plants should be lifted immediately, the diseased portions of the rhizomes cut away and dusted with sulphur, powdered gypsum or plaster of paris. After the treatment the plants may be dried off for a few days and then replanted. Iris Leaf Spot (Heterosporium Gracile) is sometimes prevalent, and is caused by the attack of a fungus. It is recognized by the development of pale round spots on the leaves, which often spread rapidly until the whole surface is covered. The leaf dies, and the plants are consequently weakened. This disease is seldom troublesome on ground which has plenty of lime, and the best remedy is prevention—by giving the ground a good dressing of lime in the autumn. Badly diseased leaves should be removed and burnt. Iris Leaf Rust (Puccinia Iridis) is more uncommon and appears as small reddish rusty spots on the leaves, spreading rapidly. The remedy is spraying with a solution of potassium sulphide (liver of sulphur), one ounce dissolved in a gallon of water, every three days.

Another disease which occasionally makes its appearance is the so-called "fire" or "scorch," the plants when attacked appearing as if they had been burnt. This trouble starts in the tips of the leaves and works down, the whole plant eventually becoming brown, and the roots withering and dying. Little or nothing is known as to the cause of this disease or its cure and it is under investigation at the present time. It is seldom very serious for as a rule only isolated plants are attacked, and it usually appears after a period of drought. A suggested remedy is to lift the plants and hang up by the roots to dry out in a hot, sunny place. After some weeks the rhizome usually recovers and starts to make fresh growth, when it can be replanted.

Borers seem to be important things that one has to contend with. Watch the foliage, beginning the first of June, and where you see a leaf that looks slimy or the edge notched, look out for the borer. With the aid of an old glove squeeze the leaf up and down between the thumb and finger. Slugs are often troublesome and do much harm by eating out the young eyes of the rhizome. Soil in which their presence is known should be dressed with plenty of sulphur.

and finally, remember

That my experience is always and in every way at your service.
